It is the City's policy that underground electrical cables and related equipment from the transformers to the building are the building owner's responsibility. This agreement clarifies the Garden Apartments will be considered the owner of the transmission lines beyond the City's transformers and will be responsible for all maintenance of the lines and equipment beyond the transformers. They have requested the public utility easement, which was dedicated to the City in 1969, be released. This will also relinquish any obligation on the City's part to maintain utilities within the prescribed easement.

The remaining 100 are in areas of town with no line of sight to the backhaul locations. Staff has been working with Midwest Fertilizer for the past several months to place equipment on the grain elevator which would bring up approximately 80 of the 100 access points.
